Development Manager

Job Description

The Historical Society of Central Florida is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that oversees the Orange County Regional History Center, located in Downtown Orlando, Florida. The Historical Society exhibits collections and preserves the regional history of Central Florida. As a Smithsonian Institution affiliate, the Center secures world class traveling exhibits that appeal to a wide range of the community. Generating funding for multiple programs including exhibits, education, artifact acquisition and events are key to the success of this partnership and the ability to provide quality attractions to the public.

The Development Manager will be a key member of the team working to support the Historical Society's overall mission. The successful candidate will effectively cultivate current and new relationships to build the History Center's visibility and financial resources.

Reports to: Executive Director

The Development Manager is responsible for successfully completing the full range of activities required to expand and strengthen funding for the organization through writing an increasing number and magnitude of grants, widen a base of targeted appeals and increasing the results of the annual campaign.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Work with the Executive Director and board members on all fundraising initiatives
- Develop and implement a development strategy for the Historical Society
- Research grant and foundation opportunities and coordinate and write all Historical Society grants
- Research and cultivate sponsorships for major exhibits, programming, and fundraising events
- Initiate and sustain donor and member contact and support
- Oversee the Society's membership program
- Track donor information, provide reports to board of directors as necessary
